Programme of the III Midterm Conference of the ESA RN 21
"Potentials and Limits of Quantitative Research in the Social Sciences"
3-6 October 2018, Kraków (Poland)

Wednesday, 3rd October, 2018

16.00 – 17.00	Meeting of Research Network 21 Board | Collegium Novum, Gołębia 24 Street, Club Convivium (ground floor)
16.00 – 20.00	Registration | Collegium Novum, Gołębia 24 Street, 1st Floor
17.30 – 18.00	Conference Opening | Dean of the Faculty Philosophy of the Jagiellonian University, Jarosław Górniak and Local Organizer Jolanta Perek-Białas, Institute of Sociology of the Jagiellonian University) Collegium Novum, Gołębia 24 Street Aula
18.00 – 19.00	Keynote | Markus Strohmaier (Aachen University): Computational Social Science. Opportunities and Challenges Chair and Introduction: Wolfgang Aschauer (University of Salzburg) Collegium Novum, Gołębia 24 Street, Aula
19.00 – 21.00	Welcome Reception | Collegium Novum, Gołębia 24 Street

Thursday, 4th October, 2018

8.30 – 16.00	Registration	Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, 1st Floor
9.00 – 10.00	Keynote	Werner Raub (Utrecht University), Complementary designs for repeated tests of hypotheses: Studying trust in social and economic exchange Chair and Introduction: Georg Müller (University of Fribourg) Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall
10.00 – 10.20	Coffee Break	Collegium Novodvorscianum, ul. Św. Anny 12, Asclepius Room
10.20 – 12.10	Session 1.1: The probability and non-probability sampling approach to representative survey results Chairs: Andreas Quatember and Johann Bacher Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall		Session 1.2: Innovative approaches in social network analysis Chair: Iasonas Lamprianou Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room		Session 1.3: Issues of cross-national survey research Chair: Wolfgang Aschauer Collegium Maius, Jagiellońska 15 Street, Michał Bobrzyński Room
	Weighting procedures for countering unit nonresponse bias of EU-SILC in Austria	Thomas Glaser, Johannes Gussenbauer, Alexander Kowarik (Statistics Austria)	Studying self-identity with thesauri and network content analysis	Modesto Escobar (Universidad de Salamanca), Juan Carlos Revilla (Universidad Complutense)	Opportunities and challenges of ex-post cross-national survey data harmonization: Determinants of protest participation worldwide, 1990-2013	Marta Kołczyńska (Polish Academy of Sciences)
	European Union Minorities and Discrimination Survey (EU-MIDIS II) – surveying immigrants and ethnic minorities in the 28 EU Member States	Rossalina Latcheva, David Reichel, Ursula Till-Tentschert (FRA Vienna)	From quantity to (relational) quality. The use of social network analysis by the example of the Polish extreme right collective actions	Daniel Platek (Jagiellonian University)	National identity – separating ethnic and civic Types in a Comparative Setting	Markus Quandt (GESIS – Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences)
	Comparing the inference quality of probability, non-probability sampling, and big data: Is it nothing but a question of models?	Andreas Quatember (Johannes Kepler University Linz)	Affective homogeneity in the Spanish general election debate. A comparative analysis of social networks of political agents	Jose Manuel Robles, Daniel Gómez, Daniel Velez, Tinguaro Rodriguez, Javier Montero (Complutense University of Madrid), Stefano de Marco (University of Salamanca)	Different perception and evaluation of public institutions in Poland and in Germany	Jolanta Perek-Białas (Jagiellonian University), Magdalena Poteralska (Warsaw School of Economics)

Do researchers account for complex design features when analyzing survey data? A metaanalysis	Joseph W. Sakshaug (German Institute for Employment Research), Brady T. West (University of Michigan), Guy Alain S. Aurelien (Walter R. McDonald & Associates, USA)	Adolescent's position in positive and negative peer networks – scientific potentials and social limits	Paweł Grygiel, Grzegorz Humenny (Jagiellonian University)	Comparability of single-variable Indicators: The case of corruption items	Ilona Wysmułek (Polish Academy of Sciences)
Comparing the size of sampling bias in personal register and non-personal-register samples using external and internal criteria of representativeness. The comparative analysis based on European Social Survey	Piotr Jabkowski, Piotr Cichocki (Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań)	Smaller representations of large social networks using graph coarsening techniques to simplify analysis and visualization	Luis Martinez-Uribe, Modesto Escobar (Universidad de Salamanca)

12.20 – 13.20	Visit of the Jagiellonian University's Museum | Collegium Maius, Jagiellońska 15 Street All participants invited: I group at 12.20 and II group at 12.50
12.30 – 14.00	Lunch | Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Asclepius Room

14.00 – 15.15	Session 1.4: The role of the interviewers in quantitative surveys Chair: Anna Domarańska Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall		Session 1.5: How to decrease nonresponse in surveys? Chair: Modesto Escobar Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room		Session 1.6: Potentials and limits of longitudinal studies Chair: Konrad Turek Collegium Maius, Jagiellońska 15 Street, Michał Bobrzyński Room
	Do experienced interviewers provide interviews with higher quality?	Dimitri Prandner, Johann Bacher (University of Linz), Martin Weichbold (University of Salzburg)	Conducting a survey under unclear outcome conditions by using a responsive survey design	Tobias Gummer, Pablo Christmann, Sascha Hähnel, Christof Wolf (GESIS – Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences)	The effect of interview lengths on panel attrition in the NEPS Adult Study	Annette Trahms (German Institute for Employment Research)
	Subjective and objective methods in quantitative assessment of interviewers' cognitive load: First results of a field experiment with interviewers from the RLMS-HSE during the transition from PAPI to CAPI	Inna F. Deviatko (National Research University Higher School of Economics)	Prepaid incentives and survey-quality in youth surveys: Experimental evidence from the TREE panel	Stefan Sacchi, Maarten Koomen, Christina von Rotz, Barbara Müller, Ben Jann (University of Bern)	Rating health and rating change: How Canadians rate their health and its changes	Patrick Lazarevic (Vienna Institute of Demography)

	"Do Not Worry!" – Training's impact on interviewers' expectations towards the change from PAPI to CAPI	Bogdanov Mikhail (National Research University Higher School of Economics, Moscow), Lebedev Daniil (The Russian Presidential Academy of National Economy and Public Administration, Moscow)	New data to correct for non-response: The case of administrative data in Spain	Pablo Cabrera-Álvarez	Modelling effect heterogeneity using fixed-effects impact functions: A causal analysis of maternal health around divorce, conditional on children's age	Katharina Eva Loter, Oliver Arránz Becker (Martin Luther University Halle-Wittenberg), Małgorzata Mikucka (University of Mannheim), Christof Wolf (GESIS – Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences)

15.15 – 15.35	Coffee Break | Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Asclepius Room

15.35 – 17.05	Session 1.7: Explaining and understanding social reality in quantitative studies Chair: Inna F. Deviatko Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Assembly Hall	Session 1.8: Specific challenges with regard to "hard-to-reach" groups Chair: Tobias Gummer Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room

	Epistemological, methodological and ethical questions of the Structural Analysis in the Social Sciences (SASS)	Javier Caballero (Universidad Complutense de Madrid)	Reaching Hard-to-Reach Populations: Web-based respondent driven sampling survey of Polish multiple migrants worldwide	Justyna Salamońska. Agata Górny (University of Warsaw)
	Explaining possible instead of real behaviour: An analysis of the policy constraints of authoritarian regimes	Georg P. Mueller (University of Fribourg)	Interviewing old and oldest old populations – Empirical evidence regarding response accuracy issues in nursing home surveys	Patrick Kutschar (Paracelsus Medical University), Martin Weichbold (University of Salzburg)
	Does the topic make a difference? An analysis of consent decisions	Christoph Beuthner, Bernd Weiß, Jette Schröder, Natalja Menold, Henning Silber (GESIS Leibniz Institute for the Social Science), Florian Keusch (University of Mannheim)	Academic research on the internet: Surveying special populations with the Survey Monkey	Johana Chylíková (Czech Academy of Sciences), Kateřina Hejnová (Charles University)

17.05 – 17.20	Coffee Break | Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Asclepius Room

17.20 – 19.10	Session 1.9: The big-data challenge: text analysis and algorithms Chair: Georg Müller Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall		Session 1.10: Methodological advances in educational research Chair: Marcin Kocór Collegium Novodvorscianum,. Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room
	Social research in the age „BIG DATA": A paradox?	Klaus R. Allerbeck (Goethe University Frankfurt)	Timing of tracking and its effects on educational inequalities: Analyses with propensity score matching of comprehensive schools in Germany	Phil Kolbe (University of Kaiserslautern)
	Potentials and limits of the Weblyzard to derive security perceptions of Austrian citizens. A plea for a critical position in the application of automated big data analysis.	Wolfgang Aschauer, Alexander Seymer, Martin Weichbold (University of Salzburg)	Educational homophily in close ties. How to measure it and what can it tell us?	Ireneusz Sadowski (Polish Academy of Sciences)
	Emotional dynamics during the Catalan independence demonstrations and counter-demonstrations 2017	Camilo Cristancho (Universitat de Barcelona)	The role of teachers' self-efficacy beliefs and job burnout in mechanism shaping students' outcomes	Maciej Koniewski (Jagiellonian University)
	Small act, huge effect: algorithmic sources of publication bias in social science research	Alrik Thiem (University of Lucerne), Tim Haesebrouck (Ghent University)	The questionnaire effect in surveys on lifelong learning – methods of evaluation and implications for research	Konrad Turek (The Netherlands Interdisciplinary Demographic Institute & Jagiellonian University), Barbara Worek (Jagiellonian University), Magdalena Jelonek (Cracow University of Economics)
			Interrogating dissonant data in sociology of education: A survey on reading for pleasure.	Iasonas Lamprianou (University of Cyprus)
20.00	An opportunity for a joint dinner	Option: Restaurant Wesele, Rynek Główny 10 Street

Friday, 5th October, 2018

8.30-10.00	Registration | Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street

Keynote \| Filomena Maggino (La Sapienza University of Rome): New Challenges in Synthesizing Social Indicators
Chair and Introduction: Jolanta Perek-Białas (Jagiellonian University)
Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall

9.00-10.00

Coffee Break \| Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Asclepius Room

10.00 – 10.20

10.20-11.50	Session 2.1: Methodological challenges in the research on refugees Chair: Wolfgang Aschauer Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall	Session 2.2: Potentials and limits of wellbeing research Chair: Martin Weichbold Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room
Surveying the refugee population – methodological and practical challenges	Christoph Homuth, Gisela Will (Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories)	Investigating the comparability of the 2006 and 2012 ESS measurement of wellbeing
Work commitment and interview effects in cross-cultural studies	Hans Dietrich (German Institute for Employment Research), Michael Ruland, Angelika Steinwede (Institut für angewandte Sozialwissenschaft in Bonn)	Measurement invariance of the WHO-5 well-being index across 33 countries
Mentoring of refugees – A randomized controlled trial with refugees and locals in Germany	Magdalena Krieger, Martin Kroh, Nicolas Legewie, Lea-Maria Löbel (German Institute for Economic Research)	The impact of retirement on subjective well-being in Austria: Is there none or are quantitative studies not able to show it?
		Feeling what you know or knowing what you feel: The role of diagnoses and biomarkers in the subjective rating of health

For Session 2.2 authors:
- Anastasia Charalampi, Catherine Michalopoulou, Aggeliki Yfanti (Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences)
- Philipp Sischka (University of Luxembourg)
- Kathrin Gärtner (University of Applied Sciences Wiener Neustadt), Tobias Göllner, Johannes Klotz (Statistik Austria)
- Patrick Lazarevic (Vienna Institute of Demography)

11.50 – 12.10	Coffee Break | Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Asclepius Room
12.10 – 13.40	Session 2.3: Measuring value orientations and preferences in different contexts Chair: Johann Bacher Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall	Session 2.4: Measurement errors (with a focus on social desirability) Chair: Szymon Czarnik Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room

	Trans-situationality of Values in Schwartz's Portrait Values Questionnaire	Jacques De Wet (University Captown)	Testing and comparing new methods to control for socially desirable responding.	Marek Muszyński (Jagiellonian University)
	Computing threshold values for MDS-Stress via simulation studies with IBM SPSS	Johann Bacher (Johannes Kepler University Linz)	Do phantom questions measure social desirability?	Axel Franzen, Sebastian Mader (University of Bern)
	Measuring organizational values with Schwartz's PVQ	Daniela Wetzelhütter (University of Applied Science Upper Austria), Chigozie NNebedum (Godfrey Okoye University)	Basic income scheme and differentiation of welfare regimes. European Social Survey Round 8	Mariusz Baranowski, Piotr Jabkowski (Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań)
	Childbearing and time use preferences: a life course approach	Maria Rita Testa (Vienna Institute of Demography/Austrian Academy of Sciences), Eva-Maria Schmidt (University of Vienna)	Europeans' perceptions of their employment status and the ILO conventional definitions	Aggeliki Yfanti, Catherine Michalopoulou, Anastasia Charalampi (Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences)

13.40 – 14-40	Coffee Break | Collegium Novodvorscianum, ul. Św. Anny 12, Asclepius Room
14.40 – 16.10	Session 2.5: The boundaries of surveys and statistical techniques and innovative solutions Chair: Henning Best Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall	Session 2.6: Measuring injustice and disparities Chair: Georg Müller Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Zodiac Room

	Analysis of survey data and georeferenced data in a GIS	Heidi Bruderer Enzler, Andreas Diekmann (ETH Zurich), Ulf Liebe (University of Warwick)	Skills or qualification mismatch? Relation of education level and skills assets	Marcin Kocór (Jagiellonian University)

Selective siting and selective migration in Germany: A spatial time-series analysis of environmental inequality mechanisms	Henning Best (University of Kaiserslautern), Tobias Rüttenauer	What do we mean when we say that occupational segregation increases?	Szymon Czarnik (Jagiellonian University)
The potential of quantile regression for the comparative study of educational Inequalities	Dennis Köthemann (University of Wuppertal), Sebastian E. Wenz (GESIS Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences)	Modelling long term unemployment in Poland using accelerated failure time models in Bayesian approach	Wioletta Grzenda (Warsaw School of Economics)
Past, present and future of factorials survey experiments: A review about factorial surveys in the social sciences	Edgar Treischl, Tobias Wolbring (Friedrich-Alexander-University Erlangen-Nürnberg)	Tanja Dannwolf (TU Kaiserslautern) What do respondents understand by climate justice? A comparison of content analysis and topic modeling	Cornelia Züll (GESIS Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences),

16.10 – 16.20	Closing the conference	Collegium Novodvorscianum, Św. Anny 12 Street, Nowodworski Assembly Hall
16.20 – 18.40	Guided Tour Cracow	All participants are invited, meeting point Sw. Anny 12 Street
19.30	General Conference Dinner |(All participants are invited) Barka Augusta, Bulwar Kurlandzki (Vistulian Boulevard)

Saturday, 6th October, 2018

10.00 – 13.00	Workshop	(for interested participants) "Social Data Analysis: theories and methods. A brief introduction to the Computational Social Science approach" Camilo Cristancho (Universitat de Barcelona) Institute of Sociology of the Jagiellonian University, Grodzka 52 Street, Room 80 (3rd Floor)
13.00	Guided trip to the salt mine in Wieliczka	Details about payment and registration depend on numbers of interested (optional)

ESA European Sociological Association

INSTYTUT SOCJOLOGII UNIWERSYTETU JAGIELLOŃSKIEGO

gesis Leibniz-Institut für Sozialwissenschaften